GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

SHIPS WITHOUT MASTS.
EXPERIMENTS WITH SOME RADICALLY NEW THEORIES IN MARINE ARCHITECTURE

There will be organized under the general corporation law next week, a company of Boston capitalists to be known as the American Quick Transit Association. If the anticipations of the projectors are realized they will succeed within a year or two in revolutionizing marine architecture and in reducing the distance between Europe and America by one half. A capital of $100 000 has been subscribed and within five or six months it is expected that the utility of the new theories will be practically demonstrated. Mr A P Bliven a marine architect of New York has the work in charge and with the capital above mentioned he will immediately commence the construction of a trial vessel at Nyack on Hudson. He furnishes the following particulars of the trial ship. This boat will be much smaller than those which are to follow. She will be 147 feet long with 21 feet beam 16 feet depth of hold. Her draught forward will be 6 feet 6 inches and aft 11 feet. Her deck will be completely domed. Nothing will be within ... but the upper portion of the pilot house, the smoke stacks and ventilators. The pilot house will be entered from underneath and will give an unobstructed view in every direction being composed of convex glass an inch thick set solidly in steel frames. The advantages of a vessel without any obstructions above deck are too obvious to require that they should be detailed. This will place us above all danger of rough seas. Sweeping over us with whatever force they can do no damage. No spars are torn out, no freight goes overboard, no lives are lost. In the matter of driving-power appear great departures from the present types of vessels. Our machinery will occupy less than half the room now required by the most modern patterns in use and will weigh not more than two thirds of those now used. But that same machinery smaller and lighter, will produce more than five times the power given by that now in use. Our engines boilers shafts wheels condensers and all machinery will be of the best steel and in that matter alone we shall obtain vastly superior size and strength. The new ... ship ... is allowed to carry from 90 to 100 pounds of steam per square inch upon her boilers. We shall be able to have ours pass a Government inspection at 1000 pounds and will be able to command a working pressure of 500 pounds per square inch. This enormous power we obtain from an appliance entirely new and wholly our own. Another new appliance is a triple compound engine, just patented capable of making three times as many revolutions per minute as are made by engines used to drive the fastest steamships now afloat. There will be a double steel boiler and double triple compound engines. The engine will have four steel cylinders each and will provide combined over 600 horse power. There will be an average of 300 revolutions per minute with a possible maximum of 400. The vessel will be fitted with a four bladed hammered steel wheel or screw each blade being separate, 10 feet in diameter and with 11 feet pitch. They will have thin knife edges and will be of more than ten times the strength of the present compound wheel and will be capable of traveling ... 10 miles an hour. The main shaft will be of steel, 7 inch in diameter, 53 feet long. The engines' four steel cylinders will give a combined stroke of 56 inches with 400 pounds pressure on piston rods. The engine and boiler rooms will be placed amidships and will be surrounded completely by water tight bulkheads giving absolute protection from accident from without. This machinery insures a speed which will enable us to cross from Boston to Liverpool inside of five days. Four days and a half we calculate to be a fair estimate. No matter how rough the sea we shall be able to make the same quick trip our dome deck insuring us against the necessity of heaving to or changing our course to run out of a storm centre. Of course it will be readily seen," said Mr Bliven "that a vessel driven with such power and at such speed will have to be built unusually strong. This requirement we provide for and our patents cover several appliances which will give us a strength never before possessed by any craft. Our initial vessel is to be of wood principally of white oak, chestnut yellow pine ash and hackmatac. The best work as well as the best materials will be put into the frame keels stern and stern posts, double keelsons and longitudinal frames. These longitudinal frames mark a new departure in shipbuilding and meet a want which has always been felt.

The first steamer will be equipped in the finest style, and when completed she will be taken to Boston and make a trial trip to Europe. Immediately returning she will be entered in the steam pilot service, and will do outside towing, taking disabled vessels off Grand Banks and acting as a general wrecking vessel along the coast. But before she is placed to that use keels will already have been laid for other vessels, larger, and being in some respects even more marked in their departure from the prevailing types of ocean steamships. A stock company will be formed to build these larger vessels. The subsequent ships will be of steel, ranging from 400 to 425 feet in length, and with a tonnage of from 7000 to 8000 tons. The beam will be 50 feet, 48 feet depth of hold, draught light, 17 feet, loaded from 24 to 26 feet. They will have three lower decks, each deck being provided with water tight bulkheads from stem to stern along the bilges. Each of these large steamers will be provided with four of our new type of boilers, each boiler having 4000-horse power, a total of 16 000-horse power.

Now, as to the probability of disaster through the breaking of a shaft or by other accident at sea, whereby it is likely to be argued that we will find ourselves at a loss because of lack of sails. In addition to one wheel there will be two auxiliary screws, each two bladed, 8 feet in diameter and with 8 feet pitch each. One will be above and the other below the main shaft, and about 8 feet forward of the stern post, working on independent shafts and by independent engines. When not in use they can be covered up and protected so as not to come in contact with the water. This will give an auxiliary power to take the place of sails, and in case of a disaster to the main wheel by the breaking of a shaft, or otherwise, it will render disaster impossible, and enable the vessel to be taken safely into port, at a speed of ten miles or more an hour. What is the spar-deck of an ordinary steamer will be the saloon-deck of the new style, covered over by the dome, lighted and ventilated by the most modern devices. The mean hight of the saloon-deck, under the dome covering, will be from 17 to 18 feet, giving the most magnificent saloons ever seen on any steamers. They will have from 300 to 350 first-class state rooms, with forward, intermediate and after cabins. The state rooms will be in tiers, lighted by electric lights, with all modern appliances, and connecting bath rooms. A new style of monitor dead lights will provide light and air during the day time. The main cabins and saloons will be lighted by massive plate glass sky lights set in steel frames in the crown of the dome and practically as strong as the hull itself. These big boats will be steered by steam, as, of course will also be the first and smaller one. All boats and life raft will be carried under the dome deck aft, with steam appliances for hoisting on a tramway in and out. On top of the dome deck will be an unobstructed promenade 30 feet in width and 300 feet long, protected by brass or metallic life rails and netting. The cost of the larger vessels will range from $550 000 to $650 000—at least one third less than ordinary vessels of the same size. They are all to be built in this country. One of the objects of the enterprise is to bring back to the United States our lost ship building business and to carry American mails and American passengers under the American flag."

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin

The Lewiston Journal says: A million and a half of bobbins are made every year in the shop on the cross canal. It is a business that has been constantly growing for several years. There are fifty different lathes in the shop, for turning the various kinds of bobbins, and fifteen men are regularly employed. Nearly all the bobbins made are used in the cotton mills of Lewiston and Auburn and the value of the total production is about $100 000. In their manufacture, over 100 000 feet of birch and white maple wood are used chiefly the former. The material is purchased chiefly in Bethel and towns on the line of the Grand Trunk. It comes to the shop in squares or rough blocks and is kiln-dried before ready for the lathes. The humming lathes and wood-dust filled air make the bobbin shop one of the liveliest and dustiest places in town. The bobbin is a little thing but it makes a big buzz in the world and earns more money from the time it is cut from the block, till the time it is worn out than a good many bigger things.

Cumberland

The Argus says that Friday, as William Dorsey a carpenter, employed on the barque Norton Stover, at Portland, was working between decks he accidentally fell through the hatch a distance of eleven feet striking on his side inflicting a serious wound, and bruising him somewhat about the head.

Kennebec

The annual election of officers of Heath Post G A R Gardiner resulted as follows George H Harrington commander, A J Packard senior vice commander Geo W Cross, junior vice commander, S C McKenney chaplain, Dr F A Kimball, surgeon, J C Morrison officer of the day, J S Towle officer of the guard, C O Wadsworth Q M. These officers will be installed the first Friday evening in January. The following comrades were chosen to represent the Post in the Department convention to be held here January 24th: Wm Wiley, J W P Johnson, W L Merrill, C McLean.

The Mail says that the shank factory property at Waterville was bid off for about $3200 by Messrs I B Dunn and H I Spencer. There is a talk of its being converted into a yarn factory, but that is not certain, but the manufacture of shanks will probably be taken elsewhere.

Knox

The Herald says Mrs. Julia, wife of Jones Drinkwater of Lincolnville had a shock of paralysis Saturday afternoon. She was washing up the kitchen floor at the time and when her husband came into the house he found her sitting in a chair almost speechless. He went for his daughter, who was at a neighbor's house and when he returned his wife was on the floor, insensible, in which condition she lingered till her death, which occurred at half past ten in the evening. Her age was 63 years.

Lincoln

The News says that the dwelling house of Gilbert Booker of Somerville was entirely consumed by fire, last Saturday night with nearly all its contents. This year's produce potatoes, squashes, etc etc were not burned. The origin of the fire is not known, but is supposed to have caught from ashes in a barrel. Loss, $500 to $600, insured for $300.

The News says that Mr William N Jackson, of Wiscasset, died suddenly of heart disease, Monday morning. He was making some purchases in a grocery and to all appearances seemed as well as usual but complained of feeling dizzy and almost instantly expired.

The News reports another case of small pox at East Boothbay, in the family of Angel Farnham.

The Optician says that Benjamin Storer, of Waldoboro, died very suddenly, Tuesday, of neuralgia of the heart.

The News says the worshippers at the Congregational church Sunday, were nearly suffocated with coal gas from the furnace. One young lady fainted and all were rendered more or less uncomfortable.

Oxford

Calvin Howe of North Rumford, who weighs more than 200 lbs and is 80 years old, fell from his sleigh Thursday, 8th inst, and fractured a rib, cutting several deep gashes over his right eye. It is thought he is not dangerously hurt.

Washington

The Calais Times says that an Indian who has for years set his fur traps on Fell River, reports that tracks seen by him this fall show that the deer have returned to that locality "in flocks, like sheep." Three or four years ago not a sign of a deer could there be noticed. This is striking evidence of the wonderful increase of deer on our waters. Many hunters of the Passamaquoddy tribe took advantage of the light fall of snow last week to track and slink deer, and it is said that large numbers were shot.

York

The Advertiser says that Mr. Joshua Blaisdell, of South Berwick, a carpenter in the employ of Captain W. G. Matthews, at Wells, fell Thursday afternoon from the roof of a building upon which he was at work, striking upon his head and shoulders and receiving serious injuries.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT

The authorized publication of Secretary Blaine's instructions to our diplomatic representatives in Chili and Peru, furnishes the most crushing answer to the feather headed journalists who have been seeking to attribute the unsatisfactory condition of both American affairs to some "impulsiveness or injudicious "vigor on the part of Secretary Blaine The correspondence with Ministers Christiancy, Kilpatrick and Hurlbut is in the highest degree creditable to our Government and to the statesman who has conducted the Department of Foreign Affairs since the inauguration of James A Garfield The publication has deprived the growlers of an opportunity and their criticism is not eager in attempting to assail the calm and able instructions of the Secretary The appearance of these important State papers was demanded by every consideration of justice to Mr Blaine as he is about surrendering his portfolio and they fully support the powerful and valuable expositions of our National policy in regard to European intervention upon this continent with reference to the rights of naturalized citizens and upon other important points which have marked the administration of the State Department by Mr Blaine To say nothing of the admirable manner in which our French and German guests were received and entertained during and since the Yorktown Centennial, no thoughtful citizen of the Republic can fail to admire the unequalled wisdom sagacity calmness and tact with which Secretary Blaine met the chief responsibilities of Government super added to the burden of private grief and anxiety during those trying weeks and months when the whole world was watching at the bedside of his stricken chief To telegraph announces the nomination of Mr Blaine's successor, within the next day or two he will voluntarily retire from a position in which he has won undying fame and drawn even more closely toward him the hearts of the American people Nobly he has borne himself through unprecedented trial and gracefully he lays aside the robes of the office he has honored In becoming once more a private citizen among his fellow citizens Mr Blaine will still enjoy a eminence of popular admiration and esteem that is a grander distinction than official station can give

Hon Frederick T Frelinghuysen who is nominated as Secretary Blaine's successor was born at Millstown, Somerset county New Jersey Aug 4 1817 of a distinguished family He graduated at Rutgers College in 1836, came to the Bar in 1839 and was appointed Attorney General of New Jersey in 1861 and 1866 He was in the latter year appointed to the United States Senate to fill the unexpired term of William Wright deceased and in 1868 was regularly elected to the Senate for the term ending in 1875, during which he served on the Judiciary, Naval and Claims Committees In 1869 John P Stockton, Democrat was chosen to succeed him In 1871 he was re elected to the Senate for the term ending in 1877 succeeding A G Cattell, Republican, and was on the Committees on Judiciary Foreign Affairs and as Chairman of the Agricultural Committee In 1870 he was appointed Minister to England by President Grant, but declined In 1877 the State Legislature was Democratic and he was defeated by John R McPherson, Democrat whose term expires in 1883 Upon his retirement from the Senate Mr Frelinghuysen has not taken a prominent part in politics He is a gentleman of high character a good lawyer and has had experience in public affairs There will be some comment upon the unusual geographical assignment which gives us the President Secretary of State Secretary of the Treasury and Postmaster General from New York and its suburb State but the local considerations are not the least important and we shall all be more interested in the success of the new Cabinet officers than in the matter of their residence

READY TO GRAB

The Lewiston Journal says that the announcement in the Greenback organ there Governor Plaisted intends to make nominations on the 13th inst for the county offices that will become vacant January 1st has brought together a lively crowd of politicians expectant in that county to urge for dividing the spoils One of the number said the Journal that we all ought to submit the matter to an impartial committee of five who should decide whose names should go to the Governor This committee consisted of Rodney Foss, Enoch Perkins George S Pettingill Melville Hutchinson and Dexter Smith The committee met Saturday and decided in favor of Dr Bigelow for Sheriff and James Nash for Clerk of Courts The choices with which these Fusionists expect to pack themselves into the elective offices of a Republican county by the advice and consent of a Republican Council is worthy of Plaisted himself

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED

The high end man of the Boston Post declined in his heaviest style in an editorial Monday's issue about the South American complications and indignantly denied

On the off a limited circle at Washington no one knows what are our relations with Chili or Peru to-day, or what is the nature of the correspondence that has passed between Secretary Blaine and our representatives at Lima and Santiago

Just three columns' width distant on the same page the off end man of the Post presented under display headings that identical and entire correspondence That was one of the frequent cases in which the Lederhosen of the high end man of the Post came near blowing out the —— or her, blowing off the head of the off end man

THE PACIFIC BANK The Directors of the suspended Pacific Bank, of Boston after a long session Saturday, voted to reorganize and request the Comptroller to order an assessment of 100 per cent on the capital stock. Mr. Weeks had paid in $100,000 and promised more The Comptroller has granted a further extension of time, and some of the Directors think the Bank will be reopened with new officers in ten days or a fortnight.

The Supreme Court of Maine has decided against Governor Plaisted in the matter of suspending the Governor's Council, and the Fusionists are almost as wild as they were when they tried to steal the Legislature —Chicago Inter-Ocean

PROSPEROUS MAINE.

[From the Boston Herald]

A State that derives an income of $10,000 a year from spruce gum alone, and always has a political row of some kind by which to advertise itself, and a man in Congress fit to be Speaker, isn't to be sneezed at because it is poor And there are people who would resent the imputation that Maine is poor. Some of her Democratic citizens feel so just now, and thereby hangs a tale which might just as well be told here. The query was often raised, after the publication of the list of stockholders of the late Pacific Bank of this city, as to how so many people in a certain section of Maine came to have money, and in some cases a good deal of it, therein invested The answer is this When the late President of the Pacific left the bank with which he had previously been connected, a certain Maine capitalist of mature years and considerable experience, conceived the idea that this man with whom he and a bank in which he was interested had dealt in the ordinary course of business, was being persecuted So he not only subscribed to the stock of the new institution himself but induced personal and political friends in three adjoining counties to do the same. Hence the long list of stockholders from Maine recently printed It might have been as well for them to have bought Thomaston or Rockland bonds, but when men let partisanship influence their business operations mistakes are always in order But the fact that there are so many losers, and no complaint in the press, is evidence of the fact that Maine is not poor. Here is more About $9 000 citizens of Maine have money in her savings banks, and nearly one-third of her depositors have more than $400 each Of the $68,000 000 and over which these banks owe, nearly $6 000,000 is invested in United States bonds and about $7,500 000 in other public funds This makes half of the deposits Five millions is loaned on real estate mortgages and $1 200 000 is invested in real estate and an equal amount in bank stock, while $1 ...0 000 in cash, with various sums in other securities, more or less secure makes up the balance The general condition of the banks, according to the report of Examiner E E Richards, from which these figures are derived, is improved and improving The increased confidence and better circumstances of the people are shown by a net increase during the year of $..861 000 in deposits and justified by the payment of over $1,000 000 in dividends, an average of about 1 per cent as well as by the decided gain in the character of investments Altogether, it can be said the report is a very cheerful and promising one

The State has been fairly prosperous during the year, the decrease in real estate mortgages the banks hold testifies to this The lumbermen have done well The farmers, taking all things into consideration have no more reason for complaining than a farmer can always find The summer hotel business which has assumed such important proportions was not as profitable owing to the character of the season, as was expected but no serious losses resulted and those interested are full of hope for the future There has been growth in the cotton manufacturing enterprises and greater growth is predicted as soon to come New mills have been built at Waterville and Richmond, and old mills have been enlarged and improved Moreover, the business page The general condition of the trading classes is good, and there have been no failures of any magnitude It really looks as if the evil days out of which the Greenbackers made so much political capital, were about over

GUITEAU'S RESPONSIBILITY

SIXTEEN EXPERTS AGREE THAT HE IS LEGALLY SANE

The Boston Herald in Washington special sent Sunday night states that sixteen of the experts summoned on either side of the Guiteau trial have had a consultation in which it was found that all were agreed on the opinion that the assassin is sane and legally responsible for the murder of James A Garfield It is understood that actually the whole body of experts now here attending the trial One of them said to night that he did not know of a single expert who would testify that Guiteau was insane unless Dr E C Spitzka, of New York who has not been present during the trial but who has now arrived in Washington in obedience to a subpœna should do so One of the experts laughingly said to-night that the public was about to see that for once the doctors could agree The fact of a practically unanimous agreement may have an important effect in shortening the trial

The total abolition of the German alphabet is becoming the burning question of the day in Germany Scholars and historians are using the Latin type, while Prince Bismarck and the chief newspapers and reviews cling to the ancient contortions The argument that it is patriotic to retain the old alphabet is met by the fact that that alphabet was originally Latin that all German books before the invention of printing were written in what is now distinctively called the Latin character, and that the ingenious ornamental perversities of the monks who were the chief copyists naturally came to be considered the type of a good handwriting and the o were closely imitated by the first printers The printers of France, Spain, Holland and even England at first used a similar character, but gradually emancipated themselves from its trammels The extraordinary prevalence of short sight in Germany is largely ascribed to this type

"Billy Florence, the comedian, who has made a fortune playing in the "Ticket of Leave Man" and the "Almighty Dollar" says he has money enough and thinks he is well adapted to a diplomatic post abroad He says it would be a graceful recognition of the stage" That reminds us that the profession of negro-minstrelsy has never been adequately represented as yet in our first-class foreign missions

"Perley" writes the Boston Journal that Secretary Blaine is authority for the statement that General Garfield, had he lived, intended to have offered an appointment as Judge of the Supreme Court to Foscoe Conkling, to show him that he entertained no feelings of personal animosity toward him

Even the Springfield Republican says Secretary Blaine's prompt refusal to permit the esteemed umpire of the Spanish claims commission, Count Lowenhaupt, to decide 'out of his own head' whether regularly naturalized citizens of the United States were properly naturalized—that is, to review the action of our courts—will command universal approval

John Bailey, Esq., originally from this State, who has been in the service of the House of Representatives over thirty years, has been appointed its chief disbursing clerk, by Mr. McPherson, Mr. Bailey is the father of Mrs. General Selden Connor.

NEW MAGAZINES.

PETERSON'S LADIES' NATIONAL MAGAZINE for December closes the 80th Volume with a pleasing array of attractions In addition to the engraved frontispiece it has a very handsomely engraved title-page representing a group of beautiful children choristers singing out the Old Year There is a colored fashion plate, colored patterns for cross stitch, numerous wood-engravings of fashions, costumes, garments, crochet and other patterns, and the song, 'Time of Apple Blossom' The literary contents include the stories 'My Cousin Maud,' 'Dorothy' "How the Boarders Took Us In" 'That Obstinate Family,"' The Elixir of Life,' Chaps 30-35 of Mrs Ann S Stephens's story The American Countess,' Jennie's Christmas Gift,' a number of poems and the usual chapters upon needlework garments household hints etc Published by Charles J Peterson, 306 Chestnut St Philadelphia, price $2 00 per year

FLORA'S BOUQUET, is a neat collection of floral poems including Horace Smith's noted Hymn to the Flowers, with ten full page colored flower plates in best style of lithography Paper covers, sent by mail to any address on receipt of 50 cents by the publishers Brackett & Co Belfast, Maine

The Boston Journal's special says the President is adopting a new system as to calls at the White House, and is very much less accessible than other Presidents have been

THE EASTERN RAILROADS The annual report of the Directors of the Eastern Railroad for the twelve months ending September 30, 1881, says The results show both the largest gross and net earnings of any year in the history of the road The gross earnings show an increase of $159 .1 07 and the net of $39 672 .0 over those of the preceding year The value of the property has been fully maintained by the amount charged to operating expenses By the sale of securities held by the company and the use of $100. 00 of the net earnings of the year, the remainder of the floating debt outstanding at the time of the reorganization has been paid The year upon which the road has just entered opens with as large an increase as was shown in the year covered by this report The board also expresses its appreciation of the ability to the interests of the corporation shown by the heads of the departments as well as the employes generally

The failures in the United States for the week ending December 8 were greater in number than for any other week during the year, the increase being principally in the New England and Western States but New England is prosperous her people fully employed in profitable business and the failures which take place do not indicate any general depression or unprofitableness of trade or manufactures That the low price of money in the past has enabled persons to obtain help who could not otherwise do so is undoubtedly true the closing up of accounts for the year may have had some effect upon that class of traders who have little credit and less money while speculative trade will account for other failures The unfavorable fact of increase of failure is more than balanced by the testimony that the holiday trade, which is an almost unerring indicator of the financial condition of the mass of the people is better than ever and that throughout the country Wherever one goes in town or country there is the sight of energetic occupation and there is the proof that labor is well rewarded Taxes are promptly paid, buildings are renovated comfort and comfort prevail in the land and will accordingly all present appearances among all who avoid speculation and pursue only legitimate calling in a capable and economical manner —Providence Journal

ANOTHER DESPATCH TO MINISTER HURLBUT

From the Secretary of State.

Additional Despatch

WASHINGTON Dec 12 The following additional despatch to Minister Hurlbut has been furnished for publication by the Department of State

Despatch to General Hurlbut

WASHINGTON Nov 22, 1881

Stephen A Hurlbut Esq etc, etc, Lima

—Your despatches to November 23 have been received and I learn ... the construction that has been put on your language and conduct is ... a policy of active intervention on the part of this Government beyond the ... of your instructions As those instructions were clear and explicit and as ... is in the possession of no information which would seem to require the withdrawal of confidence reposed in ...

Not Consider This Interpretation

... words and acts as the result of ... and perhaps prejudiced misconception My only material for forming an opinion consists of your memorandum to Admiral Lynch, your letter to ... the Secretary of General ... and the convention with President ... ceding a naval station of the United States I would have preferred ... hold no communication ... Admiral Lynch on questions of diplomatic character He was present as a ... commander of Chilian forces and ... credited to Peru Nor do I ... Admiral Lynch as the commander of the Chilian army of occupation ... right to ask or to receive information ... from you as to the opinion of ... Government

The United States

... represented in Chili by a properly accredited Minister, and from his own Government the Admiral could and ought to ... any information which it ... important for him to have It was to ... be found even desired that frank ... relations should exist between ... I cannot consider such confidential ... as justifying a formal ... to your colleague in Chili for correction of your conduct If ... anything in your proceedings in ... which the Government of Chili ... take exception a direct ... attention to this Government through ... Chilian Minister here, was the ...

To the Government and Yourself

... add this I must add that the language of the memorandum was capable of a natural misconception While you ... that may not fairly be considered warranted by your instructions you ... to say with equal emphasis some ... which your instructions supplied which would perhaps have relieved the apprehensions of the Chilian ... For while I would urge ... regard with disfavor the imperious acquisition of Peruvian territory as the ... of conquest you were distinctly in ... that this Government could not refuse to recognize such annexation as might become a necessary condition in a final treaty of peace

The Main Purpose of Your Effort

... expected to be not so much a protest ... any possible annexation as an attempt by friendly but unofficial communication with Chilian authorities (with whom you were daily associated) to induce ... to support the policy of giving to ... without the imposition of harsh and ... conditions precedent, the opportunity to show that their rights and interests ... could be satisfied without such an ...

There is Enough

your memorandum, if carefully considered to indicate this purpose and I only ... that you did not state it with ... and if necessary with a repetition which would have left impossible anything ... the most willful misconception ... present advised I must express disapproval of your letter to Senor Garcia ... Secretary of General Iglesias I think ... your proper course in reference to ... communication would have been ... only to ignore it as claiming an official character which you could not recognize ... if you deemed that courtesy required a ... that you were accredited ...

To the Calderon Government,

I could therefore know no other, and ... any communication which Gen Pe... thought his interests to make, must ... made directly to the Government at Washington You had no responsibility ... matter and it was injudicious to assume any The recognition of the Calderon Government had been duly considered and decided by your own Government and ... you were neither instructed nor expected ... Gen Pe... or the Iglesian ... view this reason for that action

The Following Language

... to Senor Garcia might well be ... Chili desires and asks for ... and will recognize the Government which agrees to its cession The Cal... government will not cede it and it ... to be seen whether the ... more pliable' It might easily be supposed by the excited public ... on either side such language was ... to imply that the Government of United States has recognized the Government of Calderon because of its resolution ... to cede the Peruvian territory No ... had ever been declared by this Government The Government of Calderon was recognized because we believed it ...

Interest of Both Chili and Peru

... some respectable authority should be ... which could restore internal order and ... responsible negotiation for peace We desired that the Peruvian Government should have a fair opportunity to obtain the best terms it could, I hoped it would be able to satisfy the demands of Chili without a painful ... of National territory, but we did not ... and never intended to make any ... result of peace negotiations the ... condition of the Calderon ... What was best and what ... possible for Peru to do, we were ... the extent of our powers to ... in doing by the use of whatever ... or consideration we enjoyed with ... Further than that the Government of the United States has as yet expressed neither an opinion or intention ...

AS ALSO EXPRESS THE DISSATISFACTION

the department at your telegram to the Minister of the United States near the Argentine Confederation suggesting that a Minister be sent by the Government to ... This would have been clearly ... the sphere of your proper official ... at any time but as there then existed a serious difference between Chili and the Argentine Confederation you ... naturally have anticipated that such a recommendation would be considered ... an effort to effect the political combination against her The United States was not in search of alliances to ... a hostile demonstration against Chili and such anxiety might well be deemed inconsistent, with the professions of impartial mediation

AS TO THE CONVENTION

... regard to the naval station in the bay of Chimbote, I am of the opinion that although it is a desirable arrangement, the time is no opportune I would be very unwilling to ask such concession under circumstances which would almost seem to impose on Peru the necessity of complying with our request, and I have no doubt whatever that if Peru was relieved from the present embarrassments she would cheerfully grant any facilities our naval or commercial interests might require Nor in the present excited condition of public opinion in Chili would I be willing to afford to

EVIL-DISPOSED PERSONS

an opportunity to intimate that the United States contemplated the establishment of naval rendezvous in the neighborhood of either Peru or Chili The very natural and innocent convenience which we require might be misunderstood or misapprehended, and as our sole purpose is to be allowed in the spirit of most impartial friendship to act as mediator between these two powers, I would prefer at present to ask no favors of one and to excite no possible apprehensions in the other. Having thus stated with frankness the impression made upon the department by such information as you have furnished, it becomes my duty to add that this government is unable to understand the abolition of the Calderon government and the

ARREST OF PRESIDENT CALDERON HIMSELF

by Chilian authorities, or I suppose I ought to say by the Chilian Government as the Secretary for Foreign Affairs of that Government has in an informal communication to Mr Kilpatrick declared that the Calderon Government "was at an end" As we recognized that Government in supposed conformity with the wishes of Chili and as no reason for its destruction has been given us you will still consider yourself accredited to it if any legitimate representative exist in the place of President Calderon, if none such exist you will remain in Lima until you receive further instructions confining your communications with the Chilian authorities to such limit as your personal convenience and maintenance of the rights and privileges of your legation may require

THE COMPLICATED CONDITION

of affairs resulting from the action of the Chilian Government the time required for communication between the legations in Chili and Peru and this Department, and the unfortunate notoriety which the serious differences between yourself and your colleague in Chili have attracted, have in the opinion of the President imposed upon him the necessity of a special mission This mission will be charged with the duty of expressing the views of the President upon the grave condition of affairs which your despatches describe, and if possible with due consideration of the rights interests and responsibilities of both nations to promote a settlement which shall restore to the

SUFFERING PEOPLE OF PERU

the benefits of a well ordered government deliver both countries from the miseries and burdens of a protracted war and place their future relations upon a foundation ... will prove stable because just and honorable I am Sir,

Your obdt servant

(Signed) JAMES G BLAINE

FORTY SEVENTH CONGRESS—First Session

Senate

WASHINGTON Dec. 12 Mr Edmunds introduced a bill for defraying the extraordinary liabilities and expenses in consequence of the assault upon the late President of the United States

Among the bills introduced and referred were the following To re-establish the Court of Commissioners on the Alabama claims and for the distribution of the unappropriated money of the Geneva award to release the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad from certain taxes for the relief of the officers and crew of the United States steamer Monitor who participated in the action with the Merrimac in 1862 to enable National Banking Associations to enter their corporate existence to aid in the erection of a statute to Gen Garfield for the scientific exploration of the territory of Alaska

A resolution was adopted requesting the President if not incompatible with public interest to communicate to the Senate the instructions to the Minister in London in regard to a modification of the Clayton Bulwer treaty

Memorials from the members of the New York Legislature affecting the right of the present Senators from that State to occupy seats in the Chamber were reported back. The Committee asked that the same lie on the table, and the Committee was discharged from further consideration The report shows the insufficiency of the objections alleged Tabled

Mr Garland then addressed the Senate on the tariff commission and the subject was followed briefly by Mr Beck

The Senate at 2 30 P M, went into Executive session and confirmed the nomination of Ex Senator Frelinghuysen as Secretary of State unanimously, without discussion The other nominations received to day were referred to the Committee on Post Offices and the Senate at 2 45 P M adjourned until to morrow

FROM WASHINGTON.

GUITEAU IN COURT.

Fifth Week of the Trial.

JUDGE PORTER THINKS THE ASSASSIN'S CONDUCT MONOTONOUS

And the Public Will Agree With Him.

The Fifth Week

WASHINGTON, Dec 12 The fifth week of the Guiteau trial was entered upon with an unabated interest on the part of the public Among the spectators to day were several Congressmen Dr John Ardronrux, Commissioner of Lunacy of New York and Horace Maynard, ex Postmaster General, occupied seats upon the bench with Judge Cox

A Physician who Thinks the Assassin Insane

With the consent of the counsel for the prosecution Scoville called for the defence Dr Edward Charles Spitzka of New York The witness examined the prisoner in jail yesterday and was satisfied that he is insane He examined the eye and pulse and found both healthy Did not consider the examinations relevant but made them simply as a matter of record Witness considered the main features of the prisoner's case to be a tendency to the formation of delusive opinions and morbid projects with strong indications of imbecility of judgment "And while" said the witness, "I have no other evidence than the expression of his face I should have no doubt that he is a moral imbecile or a moral monstrosity "

Scoville then read to witness a hypothetical question based upon the prisoner's erratic life and conduct and that there was no other adequate motive for his act in shooting the President that the firm delusion that it was necessary for the good of the country and asked if in his (witness) opinion the prisoner was sane or insane on the 2d of July Witness declined to answer any hypothetical question in a case where he had made a personal examination Witness considered the prisoner insane when he examined him, he believed that he must have been in a more or less morbid mental state throughout his life and that he was probably insane on the 2d of July

Getting at the Witness Standing.

Witness on cross examination was asked where and when he graduated in medicine and replied from the University of New York in 1873 The cross examination was quite pointedly directed to witness practice and standing as an expert and inquiries were made as to the witness position as professor at a veterinary school Scoville objected to the question as not pertinent

Davidge replied The attainments of this witness have been paraded by the counsel on the other side and we think it decidedly pertinent to this case to discover what opportunities for professional acquirements the witness has had

Scoville noted an exception here The witness had no reason to feel ashamed of his sphere of duty in that connection The branch of inquiry pursued by him had also engaged the attention of Couvier and other noted scientists

Davidge—Yes, but your treatment at that time must have been confined mostly to horses and those gentlemen then are known as horse doctors are they not?

Witness reddening and with some exclamation — My treatment has not been confined to asses but when an ass with two legs asks me stupid questions I endeavor to treat him as he deserves' (General laugh at the expense of counsel)

The Visit to the Jail

The witness stated that he visited the jail under the assumed name of Prof Brown a phrenologist He desired to take the prisoner unawares and so pretended to make a phrenological examination The witness then gave an account of his interview with Guiteau and summed up as the result of his investigation that he found the prisoner possessed of a good memory, with the attainments of a third rate shyster lawyer in a criminal court, and firmly impressed with the belief that he had sacrificed himself for the good of the American people that he parried questions the answering of which might injure his vanity and egotism and changed the conversation frequently to subjects which would give him an opportunity to laud his position and exploits

The Witness was Asked

If the prisoner was able to distinguish between right and wrong He declined to express an opinion as to his moral responsibility but from this examination of the prisoner he was of the opinion that since he had been a lawyer he has always known the ordinary legal consequences of criminal acts

Guiteau interrupting, "I haven't been a lawyer for five years Judge He said when I was a lawyer, so you see that don't help you any Judge Ask him if I was responsible for my acts on the second of July "

The witness would not undertake to express a decided opinion as to the mental condition of the prisoner July second ... presumably that he has always been of a morbid mind The witness thought depravity might fructure morbid projects but did not think the prisoner's behavior consistent with the theory that depravity was the father of the act in killing the President

Another Scandalous Harangue

Guiteau—There was no depravity about this business at all and I think it is a burning shame for the prosecution to hang on that word depravity I've been a consistent Christian all my life, and because I committed adultery to get rid of a woman I did not love, and owe a few hundred dollars it is a burning shame for the prosecution to blacken my character "

Despite the cries of silence and order Guiteau continued to strike upon the table and shriek out at the top of his voice, "I am not afraid to go to the gallows if the Lord Almighty wishes me to go there I expect an act of God that will blow this Court and Jury out of that window to protect me if necessary I want to thunder this into the ears of the American people "

Mr Davidge, with an air of disgust, Oh, this pantomime business is getting played out

Guiteau—"You are getting played out and your theory of prosecution, too "

Recess

Disorder in Court

As soon as the Court was called to order Guiteau, with a flashing eye and nervous utterance shouted There are a good many poodle dogs in the press and I want to express my contempt for these poodle dogs of the press The high toned press of the country are beginning to express their opinion that it would be a crime to hang a man who was in my condition on the second of July, when I was impelled upon the President.

Some one in the audience cried out—"Shoot him now."

Dr Spitzka on the Stand Again

The cries of order on the part of the bailiffs soon reduced the audience to quiet and Dr Spitzka again took the stand. The witness concluded from the shape of the face and head and the defective innovation of the facial muscles and from the pronounced deviation of the tongue to the left; that the prisoner was born with unequal development of the brain, that his insanity was congenital. The witness described with great particularity the peculiarities of the head formation which he had detected in the prisoner's case

The Closest Attention Was Paid

by Guiteau to the evidence of this witness, and his satisfaction was plainly indicated by the expression of his countenance. The witness becoming weary was allowed to sit down, but District Attorney Corkhill insisted upon his standing up as he could not see or hear him. The witness stood up, saying it was a trivial matter whether Corkhill could see or hear or not. Guiteau was immensely amused at this retort and with a chuckle said: "He is a bad man for you Corkhill, and we've got some more of them too " The witness upon talking with the prisoner found that he based his conclusions upon insane and improbable assumptions, but granting his assumptions to be true his conclusions were logical.

The Cross Examination

was continued till the hour of adjournment and the combined efforts of the counsel for the prosecution were brought to bear upon the witness with the evident purpose of breaking down his testimony. The witness however proved more than a match for them and frequently turned the tables upon them. Col. Corkhill sharply questioned him in regard to an article that he (witness) had contributed to the New York Medical Journal.

A Spicy Colloquy

ensued between the witness' counsel in regard to the article, extracts from which were read by Col Corkhill. Guiteau broke in and shouted "It seems to cause you considerable trouble, you had better cool off Corkhill, I haven't seen you heated so before It's three o'clock, and we had better go home

Witness was asked if he had not appeared as an expert in a certain case and after taking a fee on one side returned it and taken a larger one from the other side, and replied with considerable warmth "You have no basis for such a question, and no man dares to make an assertion upon which you could found it "

Guiteau Again Interrupted

In a great rage and in tones which completely drowned the voices of counsel and witness called out "That's a very dirty question for you to ask, Corkhill It just suits your brain I am going to ask Arthur to kick you out of this case Why! this man is one of the first scientists of the country Why! he would not condescend to spit on you, Corkhill. You are in bad repute, Corkhill with every member of this bar, and you are an unmitigated nuisance in this case " The witness finally answered most decidedly "no " The Court adjourned without concluding the examination

NEW YORK

Another Bank Officer in Trouble

POUGHKEEPSIE Dec 12 Seneca V. Halloway, paying teller of the Poughkeepsie National Bank was arrested this morning charged with embezzlement. The bank officers say a partial examination of the books show a shortage to an amount between $40 000 and $50 000, which is about a third of the surplus Halloway was recently elected County Treasurer

ART ASSOCIATION LECTURE The lecture by E C Bolles before the Art Association, at City Hall on Thursday evening next, is likely to be the most interesting of any in the series that have yet been delivered The subject is, Westminster and South Kensington, or the Palace of Government and the Palace of Art in London The lecture will be beautifully illustrated by the calcium light and lantern Mme Hernandred Ricard, a dramatic, pathetic humorous and dialect reader, is announced for Dec 23, Prof. Churchill, Dec 27, concert, assisted by Miss Ella Chamberlain, whistling soloist, Jan 11

THE RIVER—THE ICE PROSPECT Quite a number of boys were skating below the E & N A Railway bridge yesterday afternoon at which point the ice was particularly smooth and glassy Several persons were also seen to cross on the ice from this city to Brewer There is an apparent freedom from mill refuse in the ice this season and the crop which will be harvested this winter will be of a superior quality As to the quantity that will be cut everything depends upon whether there shall be an open winter in New York State and elsewhere Should a large crop be harvested in that section there will be little demand for the ice cut on our river, but if the reverse shall be the case, our dealers will be able to dispose of all the ice now on hand together with what may be cut the present winter

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON THE K I W POND We learn of an accident that occurred recently on the Katahdin Iron Works pond A man named Anson Page, employed in hauling wood and ore for O W Davis, Jr, attempted to cross the pond on the ice with a pair of horses, and when about midway the ice gave away, letting the team into the water There were several other two-horse teams following at a distance and their drivers noting Mr Page's accident dropped their reins and started to his assistance While thus engaged, one of the teams became frightened and ran away and in their flight collided with a mule team in such a manner that a pole was driven completely through the body of one of the latter animals which was a very valuable pair, inflicting, of course, a fatal wound This affair withdrew the attention of the men who had gone to Mr Page's assistance and one of his animals was drowned It is also stated that he lost his sled The affair is said to have been at one time very exciting, as it was feared that all the horses would be lost

EVERGREEN TREES An exchange says that ten thousand small evergreen trees were landed in New York, Sunday from the Portland, Me steamer They were brought by two brothers named Chapman who for years have made it a business to scour the State of Maine for them Between now and Christmas they will bring to New York about 1000 bundles of 20 000 trees to supply the holiday trade Every year a new wooded district is resorted to and the Chapmans buy the right to cut the trees for two or three cents a tree Men are hired to go over the ground and chop down the trees Only the shapely and well rounded trees are felled Then the butts are sawed off and trimmed of their smaller branches and from two to ten trees according to size are tied in each bundle This season's supply comes from within eighty miles of Portland, whither they are taken by wagon and rail, and whence they are sent by steamer to New York The tree which cost three cents apiece in the woods of Maine sell from seventy five cents to $1 25 a bundle to the grocer and retail dealers in New York These prices are for ordinary small trees under ten feet high for family use Church and Sunday School trees come higher, according to size

Miss Janie Savage

The entertainment at Norombega Hall Thursday evening promises to be one of more than ordinary merit. Miss Janie Savage is enthusiastically endorsed by the press as a most accomplished reader. The following is from the Springfield Republican "Miss Savage's readings only confirmed the very favorable judgment that followed her former appearance in this city. Her quiet and unassuming grace and charming manners, joined to a remarkably sweet and flexible voice make her tamest selections enjoyable while in such difficult work as the countryman's description of Rubenstein's playing, which was given by request, Miss Savage shows a remarkable ability to please her audience. One passage in the piece where her musical voice imitates the moan of the wind, is worth walking a mile through the snow to hear " Seats on sale at Bugbee's

IF WE KNEW.

If we knew the time allotted
To each heart that throbs below,
Which would bring most bliss or sorrow,
Joy or grief, to-day or to-morrow,
Who could tell us?

If we knew the baby sleeping
Calmly on its mother's breast,
What the coming years were keeping
For the little one, while creeping
Time stole on?

Would we stop the dear child growing
Lest it should outlive its bliss,
Or would we desire the knowing
Of the sorrow or the joy
Sent us?

If we knew the aged mourning
Friends that slowly passed away,
Would we shorten their sad morning
Or would we rejoice to see
Heaven dawn?

Knowing all, our fears would double,
Hope would fade and faith would die,
Love grow cold, and we should tremble
Lest the dear ones whom we cherish
Suffer pain.

Only God, who gave the blessing,
Fixed the number of our days,
Sent the sorrow or caressing
Joy, that comes to us commingled
With our tears,

Knows the end of every action,
Holds the secret of the years,
Soothes the restless, calms the craving,
Sees the solace for the aching
Of our fears.

Therefore trust Him for the morrow,
Day by day, whate'er it brings,
Sure that He will help in sorrow,
Who cares for the sparrows
Cares for us.
